

Design Brief

1. What is the current website?

Chessplatform is a website designed to be a social media for chess fans. It has a section where logged in users can view articles, official news and live streams. People can leave comments on the articles and can also report stuff they don't like. It has panels only designed for admins.

The website itself has a white background, generic fonts and some icons. Main colors are white, dark gray and brown.

2. What problems does it have?

3. Who are the users?

4. What is the goal of the redesign?

5. What is out of scope?
